

What is the Hexagon Project?

*The International Interdependence Hexagon Project
... a visual arts opportunity for young people open to university and communities of all ages.*

*The project asks young people to create art within the infinitely inter-linking shape of a HEXAGON
metaphor for interconnectedness.*

We believe that young people throughout the world should have opportunities to explore global themes, issues and ideas in school.

We believe the arts are vehicles for this exploration.

*We believe that through critical thinking, research and taking a stand on one's beliefs and understandings, changes in attitudes, awareness and,
subsequently,
action can occur.*

We believe it is crucial for young people to confront, question and reconsider attitudes and beliefs as part of their responsibilities as citizens of their country and the world, for their own personal growth and creation of self.

We, at the Interdependence Hexagon Project call this Art into Action; Action into Art.
